Procurement order

All pricing data on this website is for information purposes only and should in no way be regarded as a firm offer as defined by Clause 437 of the Civil Code of the Russian Federation. Filling out any corresponding forms on this website by any person does not signify an acceptance on the part of such person, nor entails any obligations for Rosneft Aero and is intended for information purposes only. A confirmation e-mail containing a copy of the filled-out website procurement order form cannot be considered a reply to the person by whom the said form was filled out or an order confirmation on the part of Rosneft Limited.

Procurement processes in which Rosneft Limited participates are governed by the Procurement Act of 2011 (governing purchases of goods, works, and services by legal entities and passed on July 18, 2011) and Rosneft's own procurement regulations.

To participate in the procurement processes conducted by Rosneft Limited, a prospective partner must either be certified by Rosneft or Rosneft Limited, or file the requisite documents to be considered for certification as part of the purchasing process. Guidelines on certification for prospective partners can be found here. They detail the certification process, as well as the requirements for potential suppliers and the documents required for certification.

Details on procurements of goods and services carried out by Rosneft Limited can be found on the government's Official procurement website, while competitive bidding is carried out via the Tekorg Electronic Trading Platform (Rosneft section).

Rosneft Competitive Bidding documentation:

- Rosneft's procurement procedures;
- Document templates and format guidelines;
- Guidelines for prospective suppliers on participation in small batch procurements;
- Service fees for Tekorg Electronic Trading Platform members.
